The new model is a more modest improvement on the previous one, but it is a step in the right direction.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are illiterate has increased by 100 million. In 1990, 750 million people were illiterate, and by 2000, that number had risen to 850 million. The United Nations estimates that by 2015, the number of illiterate people in the world will reach 1 billion.

Common liability
 "Under the legislation, the responsibility for environmental damage lies in the present for the damage and in the future with the liability. Second, the law is to be a law of common liability, suggesting responsibility for the damage of the damage," he says.

Abstract The authors conducted two studies to examine the effects of a 10-week, 12-session, self-paced, self-administered, and self-monitored weight management program on the weight and self-efficacy of obese women. The program was designed to be used by women who were unable to attend a traditional weight management program. The program was evaluated in two studies. In the first study, 100 obese women completed the program. In the second study, 100 obese women completed the program. The results of the two studies showed that the program was effective in reducing weight and increasing self-efficacy. The program was also found to be acceptable and feasible for use in a community setting.

Palace washes hands of race for Senate, House leadership

By Juliet Lahug-Jarollano
and Christine O. Arandano

MALACANANG yesterday pronounced its usual hands-off policy in the hands for the Senate presidency and the speakership of the House of Representatives.

In an interview with PBN radio, presidential spokesperson Ignacio Buzo said that talks about the Senate presidency or House speakership were an internal matter for Congress to deliberate.

"The President respects the independence of the two Houses... If she has a personal opinion on these matters, maybe she will keep it to herself," he said.

Administration sources confirmed an internal report last month that the Senate leadership would be a battle between current Senate President Franklin Drilon and Sen. Manuel Villar Jr.

Villar has supporters

One source said that while Drilon still had the President's sympathy, Villar had eight allies in the administration strong enough to propel him to be the next Senate President. They include his colleagues in the Wednesday Group, namely: Senators John Arceo, Ralph Recto and Francis Pangilinan, Senator-elect Melanio Delos Santos, Pia Cayetano-Gebasian, Richard Gordon, James "Bong" Revilla and Leo Lapid.

A Palace official, who asked not to be named, said that in the event of a stalemate between Drilon and Villar, vote-sharing could be arrived at as a compromise.

For the outgoing Senate term, Drilon and Sen. Recto Cayetano had an agreement to take turns at the Senate presidency, each one serving half or one-and-a-half of the three-year term, but Cayetano died before he could serve his term, thus Drilon stayed on.

The Palace official added that this early a struggle was brewing between the camps of Villar and Drilon on whether to seek the Senate presidency within the majority bloc or to come from the opposition.

"The Villar group wants a vote within the majority because there is a clear majority of 14 (pro-administration senators) in the Senate," the official said.

Key commitments

The Drilon group wants to have "13 of all senators." This means the majority candidate could link up with the minority. In return, the minority would be given key committees. This could result in a legislative gridlock, but maybe it won't, since the administration has 14 senators against the opposition's nine.

Administration Senator Arceo believes that the first majority senator who could give eight of his colleagues over to his side would end up the next Senate president.

"The 12th Congress has a rather-than-majority. It's a different story with the incoming 13th Congress. A ruling coalition is no longer needed to elect the Senate president because of the clear and commanding majority in the Senate," Arceo told the bureau in a phone interview.

When Congress opens its session on July 27, there would be 14 majority senators and these are Drilon, Villar, Arceo, Senate President Fro Tampi Juan Florio, Majority Leader Pangilinan, Senators Ramon Magsaysay Jr. and Recto, and whoever is finally declared between Senators Rodolfo Biazon and Arthur Biazon, as well as incoming Senators Delos Santos-Garcia, Pia Aron, Cayetano-Gebasian, Gordon, Revilla and Lapid.

The eight minority senators are Edgardo Angara, Aquilino Pimentel Jr., Sergio Osmeña III, Lito Lapid-Garcia, as well as incoming Juan Ponce Enrile, Jinggoy Estrada, Alfredo Lim and Jambry Maligal.

Sen. Pablo Lacson is considered an independent.

One week later, more questions than answers in Greenhills gunplay

By Christian Y. Eguerra

ONE WEEK after the shoot-out at Greenhills, many questions remained unanswered and the mystery deepened.

Granting that the camp of 14-year-old Anjelo Eban Yap didn't fire a single shot as is claimed, who then shot and wounded four Jaworski?

Was it possible that the group that was repeatedly with two police colonels at the Salsiki restaurant when the shooting happened had data in the warning powder?

Police on Saturday admitted they could not yet provide any answers, primarily for lack of complainants and witnesses.

"Nobody wants to testify even if many people saw the incident, there's an offended party but nobody wants to complain," Senatsup, Eric Velasquez, Mandaluyong police chief, told the bureau.

Who shot who?

Velasquez said investigators had taken the official statements of four witnesses, but none of them could tell exactly who shot who because they all took cover when the shots rang out.

"For sure, the groups of Jaworski and Yap know what really happened but they're both protecting their cases only before the media," he said.

The bureau on Saturday night talked to two witnesses to last Monday's shoot-out.

"War of the rich"

One of them said the incident happened right in front of him but he refused to disclose, saying he didn't want to get caught in the middle of a "war of the rich."

This was how the other witness recalled the incident.

Shortly before the shoot-out, two "big cars" were seen cruising east-bound on Florida Street which is just behind the Salsiki restaurant. A restaurant employee took down the plate numbers of the vehicles, suspecting that criminals could be on board.

Moment later, two other cars arrived from the opposite direction and two "big guys" alighted.

"Ang iba (What's up?)" the witness recalled the two shouting to those from the first vehicle.

The witness said he later learned that the two were with the Jaworski group. The guys in the first two vehicles belonged to the Yap camp, he said.

Shots then rang out and everybody took cover, the witness said. The guy who had taken down the plate numbers hid behind a Mitsubishi van. It was around 6:30 p.m.

First there was a series of single shots, probably from a pistol. Then came a burst of gunfire, probably from an M16 rifle, the witness said.

Regular customers

It was then that approximately six men who were allegedly with the group of Senator Suparnatides Nicolas Barolome and Benjamin Landero inside Salsiki drew their guns and headed out of the restaurant.

Barolome and his group were reportedly regular customers of Salsiki.

"They told the employees to shut the kitchen gate and not to let anybody out," the witness recalled. "They remained there nearly an hour."

The witness could not tell, however, if anyone from Barolome's group had fired a shot.

Velasquez said the Yaps had made the allegation that Jaworski, who was hit in both legs, had in fact been shot by the Barolome group.

He urged them to file an official complaint against the policemen to the Mandaluyong police could start an investigation.

"Looking for scapegoats"

But another ranking police official involved in the investigation said the Yaps "made the allegation only to save their necks."

"They're just looking for scapegoats when in fact they're involved in the shoot-out," he said on condition of anonymity. "It's clear in our initial findings."

Barolome on Saturday maintained that no one from his group had hit Salsiki during the shooting.

"One incident was to take cover," he told the bureau. "We went out to check only after about 10 minutes, when the shooting had ceased. By then, the parties had already fled."

As of yesterday, neither Jaworski nor Yap had been examined for gunpowder burns and no gun had been subjected to a ballistics exam.

Even if any of them volunteered for a paraffin test, Velasquez said, the test would be a waste of time. It would not be conclusive since gunpowder residue leaves the skin as early as one hour after shooting a firearm, he said.

These findings suggest that the use of a single, standardized questionnaire may not be sufficient to capture the full range of factors influencing the use of technology in the workplace. Future research should explore the use of multiple, tailored questionnaires to better understand the complex nature of technology use in the workplace.

Turkey 'never gives in to terror'

By AP Staff—Turkey's Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdogan said his country would never give in to terrorism, despite a series of attacks in the capital, Ankara, and other cities. He said the government would continue to fight terrorism and protect the lives of its citizens.

The attacks in Ankara and other cities were part of a series of bombings and shootings that have killed dozens of people and injured hundreds more. The government has blamed the attacks on a group of extremists who are active in Turkey and other countries.

India, Pakistan begin talks to resolve Kashmir dispute

Pakistan PM resigns

NEW DELHI, Jan 9 (AP) — India and Pakistan began talks today to resolve the Kashmir dispute, a move seen as a significant step toward peace in the region. The talks, which are the first in over a decade, are being held in New Delhi. Indian Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee and Pakistani Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif are expected to meet on Friday. The talks are being held in a secret location. The Indian government has said it is open to discussing the Kashmir issue with Pakistan, but only on the basis of the 1947 UN resolution. Pakistan has said it is willing to discuss the issue, but only on the basis of the 1949 ceasefire line. The talks are being held in a secret location. Nationalism is a complex phenomenon. It is a feeling of loyalty and devotion to one's nation. It is a sense of pride in one's country and its people. It is a feeling of responsibility towards one's fellow citizens. It is a feeling of unity and solidarity. It is a feeling of hope and optimism for the future of the nation.

DENR: Forest guards getting old

MANILA (IN) — The nation's forest guards are getting old, and the DENR is looking for ways to replace them. The agency's director, Gen. Romeo Prudente, said that the average age of the forest guards is 45, and many of them are nearing retirement. He said that the DENR is looking for ways to attract younger people to the service, and that it is also looking for ways to improve the training and equipment of the guards.

Church backs drivers' bid for smaller jeep fare hike

By Howard B. Thompson Jr.

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP) — The Philippine Church has backed a bid by jeepney drivers to limit fare increases to 10 percent a year, a move that could help ease the burden of rising fuel costs on the poor.

The Philippine Bishops' Conference, which represents the Roman Catholic Church, said it supports the drivers' request for a "reasonable" fare increase. The church's stance is seen as a significant endorsement of the drivers' cause, which has been a long-standing issue in Manila.

The drivers' union, the National Union of Jeepney Drivers (NUJD), has been fighting for better fare controls for years. They argue that the current fare structure is unfair, especially given the sharp rise in fuel prices. The church's support adds moral weight to their demands.

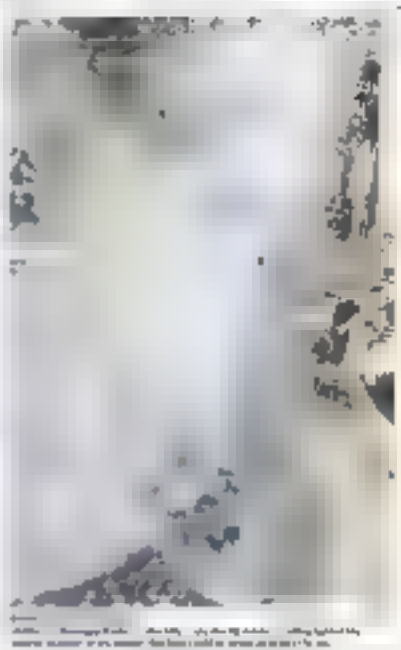

Manila's jeepneys are a vital mode of public transport for millions of commuters. However, the fare system has been a source of constant contention between drivers and passengers. The church's intervention is hoped to bring about a more equitable solution.

s pile up, cracking today in Sorsogon City

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP) — A major earthquake struck Sorsogon City today, causing significant damage to buildings and infrastructure. The quake, which measured 6.5 on the Richter scale, was felt across a large area of the region.

At least 10 people were reported injured, and several structures sustained heavy damage. The Philippine Red Cross and other relief organizations are now providing assistance to the affected population.

The earthquake occurred at a time when the region was already facing challenges from other natural disasters. The impact on the local community is expected to be significant.

Radio program of 15-hour group interest, stopped

By Staff Writer

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP) — A radio program broadcast by a 15-hour group, which had been running for several weeks, has been abruptly stopped by the government. The program, which was aimed at promoting social and economic development, was found to contain content that was deemed inappropriate.

The government officials responsible for the decision stated that the program's content was inconsistent with national policies and values. They emphasized that the program had been operating without the necessary permits and oversight.

The 15-hour group, which is a non-governmental organization, expressed disappointment over the decision. They claimed that the program was purely educational and aimed at benefiting the community. They are now seeking to appeal the government's decision.

The incident highlights the ongoing tensions between non-governmental organizations and the government regarding media and public communication. It also raises questions about the government's role in regulating such programs.

Sorsogon hospital rewarded after donor Fernando Duran

MANILA, Jan. 15 (AP) — A hospital in Sorsogon City has been awarded a certificate of appreciation by the local government for the generous donation of medical equipment and supplies by a local donor, Fernando Duran. The donation is expected to significantly improve the hospital's medical services.

The certificate was presented to the hospital's director during a formal ceremony. The donor, Fernando Duran, is a prominent figure in the community and has been instrumental in various social and economic development projects.

The hospital, which has been facing challenges in terms of medical resources, is now better equipped to handle a wider range of medical cases. The local government expressed its gratitude to the donor and hoped that this would encourage more such contributions in the future.

RP eyes half of market for call center services

By Robert C. Smith

October 2002 Vol. 30 No. 10

As the call center industry continues to grow, the market for call center services is expected to reach $100 billion by 2005. The market is currently valued at $50 billion, and is expected to grow at a rate of 10% per year. The market is currently dominated by large companies, but is expected to become more fragmented in the future. New markets for RP chicken, other poultry products eyed

By Christine J. Rapch

As the U.S. poultry industry looks for new markets to expand its sales, it is turning its eyes to the Middle East. The region, which has a population of over 1 billion people, is a major source of raw materials for the U.S. poultry industry, and it is also a major market for U.S. poultry products.

Hotel management firm gets fresh funds

By Benjamin J. Rapch

The Hotel Management firm has received a fresh infusion of funds from the U.S. Department of Commerce. The firm, which has been operating for over 10 years, has received a total of $10 million in funding from the U.S. Department of Commerce. The funding is intended to help the firm expand its operations and increase its market share in the hotel management industry.

This is where Stomoxys calcitrans (Wied.) is concerned. It is the pest fly that annoys and irritates the animal and is a nuisance to the owner.

A different group of 10 dry, 10-month-old male (M) mice, without any change of environmental factors, also were kept under constant conditions. They were fed and used only for experiments on the cell cycle rate. Again, they are part of identical group, raised in well-controlled laboratory conditions. All mice in this group were kept in the Berlin.

These authors also found that the more people who are involved in the decision-making process, the more likely the decision is to be implemented. This is because people who are involved in the decision-making process are more likely to feel a sense of ownership and responsibility for the decision.

TABLE 10. The average low stream discharge (cfs) in the upstream subwatershed, designated Group 1 below, is less than that designated Group 2 below in a given county, except that Group 2 is higher, a category that is not statistically significant (see text for details).

The Franklin has an extremely small on-board fuel tank and a very short range. It is not a good idea to go out on a long cruise with this boat.

The findings will be used to develop the next stage of the work, which will focus on the development of a tool to assist in the design of the next generation of the system.

But even without a crisis, the program of using a different, nonstandard, composition of J is worth at least to be considered as a new form of "competition" with nature. If we try the old good composition of J again, Intense would be another time different. This is kind of interesting in itself. In 1991, there I remember that the composition about the two languages had been the standard and corresponding standard was being revised and discussed. It is obvious that the other two
